Invisible Starts and Finishes in Bucks Point (PM)

12-hour class

Teacher: Holly Van Sciver

Bucks Point is an English bobbin lace characterized by delicate grounds and designs outlined by a gimp thread. Working at an intermediate level, students will learn how to start and end patterns so that the join is invisible and with very few knots. Students will learn where exceptions to the rules can be applied without detection to create the illusion of correct lacemaking. While learning the tricks, students will learn about the geometry of Bucks of how it influences technique, design and pattern interpretation.

Materials needed: supply lists and pattern packs will be sent individually to the students.
